Joy Waives Examination and Gives an Increased Bond.

—A Woman Hanged in Virginia for Murder of Her Husband.

Sanguinary Conflict of Pennsylvania Miners and Police.

Canon's Oil Developments.

CANON CITY, September 14.—In the Colton City Oil Co.'s well, three miles east of town, a strong vein of water was penetrated to-day at 300 feet and it is now flowing from the top of the tube. The water is strongly impregnated with sulphuretted and carburetted hydrogen gas which burns freely. This indicates close proximity to a body of carbon oil and the belief prevails that the company will have a flowing well of illuminating oil. This well is four miles northwest of the Peabody and seven miles from the Cassidy.

Joy and His Victim.

LEADVILLE, September 14. Joy's preliminary hearing took place before Justice O'Brien this morning. He waived examination, and was permitted to give bonds for appearance before the criminal court of Lake county in the sum of $10,000, Dennis Sullivan, Charles L. Hall, A. V. Hunter and Tom Starr becoming his sureties. Cowen's condition is about the same; possibly there is some improvement.

Crushed to Death

DENVER, September 14.—George H. Parks, an engineer on the Rio Grande, was crushed to death this morning at Douglas, a station thirty-five miles from Denver, by his engine jumping the track and falling on him. He was 52 years and has a family at Hornellsville, N. Y. His body was brought to this city last night.

Effect of Artesian Wells.

DENVER, September 14.—In view of the great demand for artesian water the Denver Water company to-day announced a sweeping reduction in rates in most cases nearly fifty per cent.

A Woman Hanged.

RICHMOND, Va., September 14.—Barbara Miller, colored, was hanged here to day for complicity in the murder of her husband in February last. Charles Henry Lee, her accomplice, was hanged on the 2d of last month. She died from strangulation. Several thousand persons were in the vicinity of the jail. Everything was orderly. The execution took place in the jail yard. Only about 100 persons were present, though many hundreds applied for permission to witness the novel spectacle of hanging a woman. The trap was sprung at 12.12.

Henry Lee, her accomplice, planned the murder but failed to execute it when the time came and the woman took the axe from him and brained Miller while asleep. Lee then carried the body to the railroad where several trains passed over and mangled the corpse in a horrible manner. It was thought the victim was asleep on the track and the railroad company paid the expenses of the funeral, but subsequently suspicions were aroused and the two culprits were arrested and confessed their guilt.

Last night a prayer meeting was held in the condemned woman's cell. Rev. Boswell, colored, conducted the exercises, which were prolonged until 2 o'clock a. m. The minister then prayed, and Mrs. Miller was left with several women friends. At about 9 Mrs. Miller ate a hearty breakfast, and later several ministers and a number of negroes gathered in her cell, where prayer was offered, followed in every instance by those strange hymns characterizing the colored people. The excitement was intense. The doomed woman stood in the midst of a throng, arms uplifted, swaying her body to and fro, while the crowd chanted. Barbara sang her hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee." Occasionally she joined in the refrain, and now and then shouted in full voice some exclamation indicative of intense excitement.

The excitement was kept up until the hour for execution, when, preceded by the negro jailor and the sheriff, and followed by four colored ministers, she marched out from the cell down to the jail yard and up the scaffold steps, the ministers singing a hymn as Barbara mounted the steps, she attempted to join in the refrain. She went up slowly but evidently her excitement was the result more of what she had passed through than by reason of her faith. In accordance with her request Barbara was attired in a neat-fitting white muslin dress. She had a bunch of artificial lilies and orange blossoms on her bosom and broad white ribbons around her head.

On reaching the platform she was seated in a chair while Sheriff Southworth read the death warrant. Being asked if she had anything to say she stood up and in a droning, chanting tone bade farewell. She warned all her hearers to take lesson from her fate and said she was going to glory and the angels above. A long prayer by one of the ministers followed and then all but the sheriff and jailor descended from the scaffold. Her legs and arms were pinioned and the black cap put over her head. Just then she was heard to say, "Farewell, farewell to you all." The next instant the sheriff gave the signal by dropping his handkerchief and the trap was sprung. The fall was over seven feet, but failed to dislocate the neck. She struggled considerably for several minutes. Death resulted from strangulation. After hanging 25 minutes the body was cut down and placed in a coffin. Barbara's mother, who had been with her before the execution, circulated among the crowd and solicited contributions to pay for her daughter's burial. She collected a considerable sum. The body will be taken to Henrico county, near her late home, for interment.

Last night the sheriff, at Mrs. Miller's direction, wrote out another confession which she signed and turned over to him to be made public after her death. It is said she and Lee had talked of killing her husband in September last, but nothing was done. In November Lee bought some poison which he put in some ginger tea and gave to Miller. It did not have the intended effect, but seemed to cure Miller of a pain in the side of which he had been complaining. Subsequently, she says, he went to Richmond. Lee told her he was going to kill her husband before she returned, but his courage failed and he did not do it. On the night of February 15th both finally agreed that Miller must die. The next morning Miller went out and Lee followed him for the purpose, as she knew, of killing him. When Lee returned he had blood on his clothing and she washed it off. She said Lee killed her husband at her suggestion. If she and Lee had not been arrested they would have been married between that time and Christmas. She was willing to die for her crime as she knew she was going to heaven.

A Fearful Fight.

NEW YORK, September 14.—The following special is printed here dated Reading, Pa.: A dispatch from Hazelton says a fearful riot took place there late yesterday at a coal mine on the upper Lehigh. A number of miners were discharged, and they threatened to destroy the company's property. The constabulary were called out and a terrible fight with pistols occurred. A woman named Harding was struck by a ball and instantly killed. A young girl of six years was also instantly killed. Police Captain Hines was shot through the hand. Nine miners were arrested and eleven revolvers found on their persons. A number of men were slightly wounded and several officers badly hurt in making the final charge in capturing the rioters. One of the miners took refuge in his house and fired at the officers. They returned and rallied and captured their man. Finally quiet was restored.

Story of a Bottle.

HALIFAX, September 14.—A few days ago Captain Haines picked up a bottle containing a piece of paper on which the following, as far as could be deciphered, was written: April 4th, '76.—My God, this is twenty-five days at sea in this dory. We are from the good ship Catharine Jane on our London to Boston, and she foundered in a squall March 10th in mid ocean. All went down but Elmer Jennison and I. Food is gone and were are most dead for No sail in sight. JOHN BELL.

The Catharine Jane was a brigantine of 166 tons, built in Pembroke, England, in 1858, registered at Faresham, and owned by Jas. Rigge, of Whitestable. Her name has been omitted in recent years from the shipping register.

Fatal Burning of Children.

OTTAWA, Ont., September 14.—A woman named Glorian, of East Templeton, locked her children, aged 4 and 2, in the house while she went to milk the cow. Returning shortly after she found the house on fire and ingress impossible. The building was soon reduced to ashes. Not the slightest trace of the children was found.

MILWAUKEE, September 14. An Appleton special says: Frank Campa's house burned last night. One child died from the effects of burns received, and Campa's wife and another child are at the point of death.

MACON, Ga., September 14.—A negro dwelling on the plantation of B. M. Bateman, near Byron, burned. Two children perished.

New York Politics.

NEW YORK, September 14. At a meeting of the Tammany committee on organization to-night the chairman of the committee on harmony reported the county democracy had declined to enter into any overtures looking toward united action.

The German democratic organization of this city has resolved to send delegates to the democratic state convention.

Whitelaw Reid, editor of the Tribune, was elected delegate to the republican state convention, also Chauncey M. DePew and Joseph Low. There was opposition to the election of the last. He was publisher of "Truth" at the time the Morey letter was made public.

Historical Research.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—A meeting of officers and soldiers of the first corps of the army of the Potomac was called in this city to-night for the purpose of making arrangements for a visit to the battlefields of Bull Run and Antietam. The call was signed by Generals Rosecrans, Robinson, Fairchild, Dudley, Dickerson and a number of other officers, inviting all the members of the corps to participate in an excursion to the battle fields above named, leaving Washington on the 15th of October next. Information as to arrangements will be furnished by J. H. Stine, historian corps, 325 O street, S. E., Washington, D. C.

The Missing Mary Churchill.

EL PASO, Tex., September 14.—A special dispatch from Laredo to the El Paso Daily Times says that Caldwell, who is supposed to have gone off with Mary Churchill, is at Laredo, and on being interviewed denied having had anything to do with Mary Churchill or having seen her for some years. No trace of Mary Churchill is to be found in Mexico.

Imported Leprosy.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 14.—A case of leprosy was brought here on the last steamer from Honolulu. The subject is named Marie Nicols, a native of the islands of French descent, and the quarantine officers refused permission to land. A writ of habeas corpus has been issued. The case will come up in the superior court to-morrow.

Music and Military.

LOUISVILLE, September 14.—On the 19th of September sixteen commanderies of Knights of Pythias will be at the southern exposition accompanied by twelve bands of music. There will be a competitive drill by the knights and contest between bands.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Franco Gains a Decisive Victory Over the Black Flag.

Details of the Canton Riot--Foreign Residents Alarmed.

Fighting in Tonquin.

LONDON, September 14. A dispatch from Hong Kong to-day states that a battle has taken place between the French forces and the Black Flag's, lasting eight hours. The engagement took place between Hanoi and Son-Tay, near the Red river. The French forces reported having lost two officers and fifty men. The loss of the Black Flag is estimated between five and six hundred men.

Hanoi is the town where the French have been holding their garrison since the previous engagements at Son-Tay awaiting reinforcements.

From the tenor of the above despatch it appears that the Black Flag, whose headquarters are at Bacninh, to the northeast of Hanoi, determined to recapture Son-Tay from the French who have kept gunboats there for the last fortnight, and while en route from Bacninh across the delta were met by French en route from Hanoi to interrupt them, the above battle being the result.

French accounts of the battle with the Black Flag state that on Saturday, September 1st, French forces from Hanoi advanced to within twelve miles of Son-Tay, where the enemy were found in casemate forts, upon which the fire of the French had no effect. After three days' hard fighting the French troops, aided by a heavy fire from the fleet under Admiral Bouet carried the enemy's works at the point of the bayonet, capturing two guns and two of the Black Flag's standards. The French loss was two officers and fourteen men killed; three officers and forty men wounded. After the victory Admiral Bouet withdrew his fleet to Hanoi to await reinforcements, leaving men to hold the captured towns.

LONDON, September 14.—A Hong Kong dispatch gives details of the battle between the French and the Black Flag: A French dispatch says they took thirty prisoners who were beheaded forthwith. Although the movement of the French troops was a success, yet the result shows that very large reinforcements will be needed to clear Tonquin of the Black Flags as earth works of no great strength kept the French, supported by gunboats, three days at bay. Sixty men of the available force of 550 means a great French loss, while 500 of the Black Flag's killed are as nothing. Operations are again suspended.

Another dispatch says: Rifles captured from the Black Flag in the engagement are reported to bear the Chinese arsenal mark. The dispatch further states that the Chinese press has adopted a belligerent tone to the French and declares the "Hue" treaty contrary to international law.

The Canton Riot.

LONDON, September 14.—The Standard's Hong Kong special gives additional details of the rioting at Canton on Monday last. The riot began at eight o'clock in the morning, as previously stated. The trouble was caused by a quarrel between some Chinese and Portuguese watchmen on the quay. During the latter part of the riot some of the merchants armed themselves to defend their property. The party consisted of nine Germans and three Englishmen. They fired into the mob killing five Chinese and wounding many more. The arrival of Chinese troops finally checked the mob. Now two British, one French and five Chinese gunboats are moored in the river abreast of the foreign settlement.

The Chinese posted placards on the walls of the city applauding the action of the populace and calling upon them to kill the Europeans at the next opportunity. The different consuls at Canton admit that the situation is very serious, and the future of the European colony gloomy in the extreme. There is almost open war between the native and foreign elements, and it will be necessary to have men-of-war in the harbor for a long time to come, as a measure of protection. The houses burned by the mob include ten English, one American, two German and one French. The consuls forwarded to the viceroy an identical note holding him answerable for the destruction of property because he failed to promptly send troops when advised of the disorder.

HONG KONG, September 14. The American consul at Canton thinks there need be no further anxiety for the safety of foreign residents at Canton.

Conciliatory.

PARIS, September 14. At a cabinet council to-day Challemel Lacour stated that negotiations with the Chinese ambassador were progressing favorably. Forwarding reinforcements to Tonquin was endorsed. It was agreed that France in the negotiations with China should adopt a conciliatory policy.

VIENNA, September 14. The London correspondent of the New Free Press says China and France have accepted as principal mediator England for settlement of the Tonquin question.

Billiard Matches.

PARIS, September 14.—In addition to the game of billiards, 3,000 points, balk line; arranged to be played here in October between Maurice Vignaux of this city and Jacob Schaeffer of Chicago, Vignaux has sent another challenge offering to play Shaeffer for the championship of the world according to the rules. The rules provide for 800 points and $500 a side.

A French Wiggins.

PARIS, September 14.—Captain Delaney, a French infantry officer, predicted four years ago that there would be an earthquake in Java, giving the date two days within its occurrence. He predicts worse in 1886. The Academy of Science, in discussing the prediction, decided that it was merely an extraordinary coincidence.

Revolutionary Disorders.

SHANGHAI, September 14.—Troubles are reported in Woo Chang, on the Yang Tzkiang, fomented by the "White Lily," a secret society opposed to the present dynasty.

The Markets.

PETTSBURG, Pa., September 14.—Petroleum dull and unsettled. United certificates closed 1.11¾.

NEW YORK, September 14. Money easy, 2 to 2½; prime paper 6½ to 7; sterling exchange quiet and steady 4.81¾, demand 4.85; governments ⅛ higher and in good demand, throes a shade easier on talk of a call next week; railway bonds weaker, Texas Pacific down to 77¾, and West Shore firsts to 73¾; state securities dull. Louisiana consols rose to 70 bid.

This was another quiet day in stock circles. At the opening there was a fair demand and prices rose ¼ to ⅞ per cent, the latter in Wabash preferred. Subsequently bears raided Villard shares, forcing Northern Pacific down from 42¾ to 39⅜, preferred from 76 to 72¾, Oregon transportation from 66⅝ to 64¾.

Mining stocks active. Horn Silver 7.13 and 7.00; Northern Belle 6.00 and 5.88; Iron Silver 3.00 and 3.05; Alice 2.12; Chrysolite 1.20 and 1.15; Little Chief 58 to 60; Amie 30 to 33; Robinson Consolidated 39 and 38; Sonora Consolidated 28 and 27.

The Southern Hurricane.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—A dispatch from Wilmington, N. C., says the hurricane of the 10th and 11th instant was the worst ever known in the vicinity, and much damage was done buildings and shipping.

WILMINGTON, N. C., September 14. The steamer City of Atlanta, Charleston, S. C., for New York, with thirty-three passengers, was towed into Smithville yesterday evening by the revenue cutter Colfax, which encountered the City of Atlanta while seeking for the missing Frying Pan shoals light ship. The City of Atlanta was in tow of the steamer British Empire, from Vera Cruz and Havana for New York. The latter fell in with the City of Atlanta 120 miles southeast of Wilmington, leaking and in need of assistance, which was rendered and the disabled steamer was taken in tow. The Atlanta left Charleston Saturday and on Sunday encountered a gale from the northeast which increased to a hurricane Monday evening and night. The steamer leaked in the after part which put over seven feet of water in the ship and drowned the fires. She drifted from 4 p. m. Monday till 10 a. m. Tuesday, when taken in tow by the British Empire and towed off Frying pan shoals and thence to Smithville by the revenue cutter. The City of Atlanta has been pumped out and will proceed to her destination as soon as the necessary repairs are made.

Patent Statistics.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—The commissioner of patents has submitted his report on the business of the patent office for the fiscal year ended June 30. The record shows that the number of applications for patents received is 32,845; number of applications for design patents received, 1,039; number of applications for reissue of patents received, 247; number of applications for registration of trade marks, 854; number of applications for registrations of labels, 740. Total 35,734, as against 30,692. Number of caveats filed, 2,688; number of patents granted, including reissues and designs, 21,185; number of trade marks registered, 883; number of labels registered, 618; total, 22,686. Number of patents withheld for non-payment of final fees, 2,056; number of patents expired, 7,471. Receipts from all sources, $1,008,894. Expenditures, not including printing, $577,628. Surplus $518,255. Increase of receipts over 1881, $305,889; over 1882, $165,020. The number of applications awaiting action on the part of the office July first, '83, was 4,693, an increase of 39 per cent. over 1882. Nearly two and a half million dollars now stands to the credit of the office in the treasury.

Pilots Deny Responsibility.

WASHINGTON, September 14. The surgeon general of the marine hospital service has received an affidavit sworn to by fifteen pilots on the Pensacola bar locating on the naval reservation and Warrington and Woolsey, adjoining the Pensacola navy yard, denying published charges that yellow fever had been introduced into the Pensacola navy yard through their negligence. They say they did not board vessels with yellow fever on board; did not order any vessels to quarantine at Ship Island, and have not done anything by which yellow fever might be introduced to the naval reservation.

Against Lotteries.

WASHINGTON, September 14. On the 18th of November '79 Postmaster General Key issued an order prohibiting the postmasters at New York and New Orleans from paying money orders and delivering registered letters to the manager of a New Orleans lottery company upon a written finding that he "was engaged in conducting a scheme or device for obtaining money through the mails by false and fraudulent representation." To-day Postmaster General Gresham issued another order extending and confirming that of Postmaster General Key and making it apply to all postoffices in the United States.

Sharon Says it is Blackmail.

CHICAGO, September 14. Senator Sharon, of Nevada, is in the city. In relation to his arrest in San Francisco just as he was about starting east at the instance of a woman who claimed he owed money, he said, was purely a case of blackmail instigated by an ex-Australian convict who scribbles for a low publication in San Francisco out of revenge because he caused this woman to be ejected from the Palace hotel. He avers that he never borrowed money from her and says he will fight the case through to the end.

Railroad Collision.

KANSAS CITY, September 14.—The east and west bound Wabash passenger trains collided to-night at Arnold, a station seven miles east of this city. A baggageman and express messenger were killed. It is reported that some passengers were killed and many injured, but this is denied by Wabash officials. Particulars are meagre as there is no means of communicating with Arnold station.

IN THE ICY NORTH.

Garlington's Supplemental Orders which He Disregarded,

Leaving Greeley Without Stores for the Long Winter.

Active Measures Taking for Relief of His Colony.

The Plans of the Proteus.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—No additional reports were received to-day from the officers of the Greeley relief expedition at St. Johns.

Those supplemental orders which have never been made public were as follows: The naval tender is to join the Proteus at St. Johns, N. S., and proceed with her to the neighborhood of Littleton Island. The Proteus is to land her stores, except supplies for the more northerly depots, at Littleton Island on her way north. If she succeeds in reaching Lady Franklin Bay she is to pick up the stores, excepting the house and depots, on her return. The naval tender will await the return of the Proteus in the neighborhood of Littleton Island and on her return steam to the south in her company until she reaches the southern limits of the ice pack, when the vessels may separate. Should the Proteus be crushed in the ice her crew will retire on Littleton Island and the tender will bring to St. Johns, N. F., the officers and crew of the Proteus. The rest of the party will remain at Littleton Island until the Proteus returns, or her crew and expeditionary force succeed in reaching there. The tender may go south, leaving full particulars at Littleton Island. Signals by flags, heliograph and guns should be preconcerted, and communication by this means should be maintained between the two vessels as long as possible. After they are separated by the passage north of the Proteus nothing in the northward move must be allowed to retard the progress of the Proteus. It is of the utmost importance that she take advantage of every day to get up to Lady Franklin bay.

From all information thus far received it would appear that Lieut. Garlington either disregarded or found it impossible to obey these supplemental orders with regard to the landing of house and stores on the way north, since the Proteus was crushed with all her stores on board, after she had passed the point where the stores should have been landed and while she was engaged in the extra-hazardous navigation of Smith's Sound. In the absence of any definite information from Lieutenant Garlington as a reason for adopting the course pursued and which led to the total failure of the plans for Lieut. Greeley's relief, officers of the signal service have declined to express any opinion or make any statement for publication at present. The secretary of war, assistant secretary of the navy and acting chief of the signal service are in consultation on the situation of affairs, but have not yet devised any particular plan for the relief of the Lady Franklin Bay party.

WASHINGTON, September 14.—Lieutenant Danenhower, formerly of the Jeannette, and Mr. Tyson, formerly of Polaris, expressed their willingness to take part in another Arctic expedition for the relief of Lieutenant Greeley.

Is It a Murder.

ASHLAND, Pa., September 14.—Wm. Runyon, farmer, and wife were found dead in bed at their residence in Millville, Columbia county, with throats cut from ear to ear. They had apparently been dead about a week. Some of the neighbors believe Runyon killed his wife and then himself. Others are of the opinion that the couple were murdered by a party of tramps. A knife was found in the bed. There are no signs of a struggle having taken place. The couple had lived happily together. Runyon was 25 years old and his wife 20.

THE RELIGIOUS WORLD.

Notes and Comments.

Washington Gladden has been taking a vacation tramp through the wilds of West Virginia. No railroads or stage coaches ever have penetrated the six counties through which he passed. The spinning wheel hummed on the porches; the old fashioned hand-loom occasionally was visible. Scarcely a negro was seen. White women generally worked in the fields, and seem to be regarded to a great degree as beasts of burden. "The morals of the mountains," Mr. Gladden affirms, "are bad. Social vice prevails in those remote communities to a lamentable extent. If there are more divorces on the Western Reserve of Ohio than among these mountaineers, it is not because the morals of the former locality are worse than those of the latter. The base acts by which homes are destroyed and lives blasted prosper in these solitudes. And this low state of morals, be it noted, is not connected with any new departure in theology, nor with any German rationalism or liberalism. These people have not so much as heard that there is any new departure. They are as orthodox as ever they were. They hear whenever they go to church the good old doctrine about the lake that burneth with fire and brimstone. The eschatology with which they are familiar, and which no one of them thinks of doubting, is all that our conservative brethren could desire. Yet somehow it does not seem to restrain them from walking in evil ways.

"We seemed to have set before us for our observation a section of the social life of seventy-five or one hundred years ago. Here were the same isolated conditions, the same rude handicrafts, the same primitive manners that we should have found in the home of our great-grandfathers. It seemed to me also that the mental habits and the moral standards of those people were probably not unlike those of the people who inhabited Ohio and western New York sixty or seventy years ago and large districts of New England at an earlier day. If so, then I am sure that much as there is to deplore in the moral conditions of the past age even if in so doing we could fully restore the theology which was current then and which some of our brethren spend their lives in sighing for."

Of all fields for a temperance reformation Germany might be supposed to be one of the least hopeful. It makes one rub his eyes to read of such a movement beginning at the silver wedding of the crown prince and having the famous General Von Moltke at its head. "The movement is supported by nearly all religious parties, pushed by committees in all parts of the country and has reached already the proportions of a national movement." It does not to be sure interfere with beer drinking except where the practice is in excess. It is aimed at diminishing or suppressing the use of spirits as a beverage. But even this step is a long step for Germany.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to get the Crown Prince and General Von Moltke to come over and stump Kansas and Colorado against whisky?

The prayer of Robert Collyer, at the Sunday service which he held in London, impressed the reporter of the Christian World as "simple and thoughtful, reverent and real in tone, manner and expression. It had one bold utterance of confidence in it which must have startled some, and set all thinking thinking solemnly of the infinite depths that there are in God. 'Our Father,' said the preacher, in quiet tones which thrilled the listeners, 'Our Father, which art in heaven,—and on earth, and, if doom should come to us, which art also in hell.'" But is this anything more than a paraphrase of Psalm 139:8. "If I make my bed in hell, Thou art there." The thought may be unfamiliar. But ought it not to be more familiar?

Modern ideas make their way very slowly into Spain. It is only memories of the Inquisition to read that in Barcelona the other day 1,300 copies of a Protestant school-book entitled "A Simple Method of Learning to Read and Cipher," were burned in the public square by the authorities because they contained extracts from the gospels as reading exercises. A significant fact, however, is that the performance did not meet with public approval; for it is stated that the populace gathered in a crowd and derided the officials who had charge of the work. It is evident that the hold of Romanism upon Spain is weakening rapidly, and it looks probable that before long Protestantism will have as free a field there as it has in Italy, where, only a few years ago, it was proscribed as bitterly as it is now in Spain.

Recent statistics show that every six years, on an average, makes a complete change in the Congregational pastorate. "The class which graduated four years ago at Andover has fourteen men engaged in the active ministry. Of this number at least ten have already changed their settlement once, and one, if not two, have changed it several times." A western Episcopal bishop affirms that there is scarcely a rector in his diocese who has occupied the same pulpit over five years. A Presbyterian pastor, in the same state, complains of the sadly frequent change in his presbytery. Our Methodist brethren are agitating for the abolition or modification of the itinerant system. It is not probable that any change in this regard will greatly affect the average length of the pastorate.

The recipe which Life gives for an ideal radical sermon has been used for some years with varying success, and is as follows: "Take fifty-five minutes of nasal tenderness of tone, one thought from 'First Principles' of Mr. Spencer and two from his 'Psychology,' and three allusions to the survival of the fittest. Stir gently till the whole begins to simmer. Then add rapidly the orthodox conception of God, seasoned with savage raillery, and two sliced compliments to the newspapers. Garnish the whole with prayers to the Unknowable, and serve."

It is boyish nature to be fond of noise simply as noise. Let fathers and mothers bear patiently with a good deal of racket in the house, provided only the boys so learn to love home and are kept away from evil places and bad companions. That is a charming incident which is told of St. Philip Neri. The saint was one day surrounded by a troop of noisy boys. Some of his friends who were annoyed by their shouts and laughter and boyish clatter complained of them to him. "Why, Father Philip," they said, "how can you stand such a noise about you?" The saint smiled and answered, "They might chop wood on my back if it would only keep them out of sin."

THE QUARTO-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

The quarto centennial celebration of Colorado pioneers, held in Denver on Thursday, was a happy affair to the old timers who participated Several of the old settlers, who have not been living of late in the state, Col Chivington being one of them, were present to look again upon the familiar faces of those who were rendered dear by the hardships and perils of the early days of Colorado The oration of Judge Stone was not only eloquent and witty, but was full of information that will be valuable historically The judge not only vigorously defended the pioneers from the charges of immorality and recklessness that have so frequently been preferred against them by more recent arrivals, but came back upon the latter in this style

"Why, in that early golden age no doors were locked at night, the intellectual tramp had not yet heard of Colorado, the cultured eastern burglar was still doing missionary work in New England, and the bogus insurance company was then relieving the widow and the orphan in the land of the Puritans And there were no dudes here then Just fancy one of those little animals out here among the pioneers, dressed in a wash basin hat, a blue neck tie, a bob tailed velvet coat, sausage skin pants and patent leather shoes, with the toe as long and sharp as a picket pin, riding along a gulch upon a saddle about the size and shape of a miner's pancake, as he now joggles along Broadway at a single-foot gait, looking "just too sweet for anything" Why, the pioneers would have lassoed him for a new species of jackass rabbit, the women would have run him through a sluice box and panned him out for a dollar store brass hairpin.

"And there were no Mother Hubbard gowns then. Picture, if you can, a pioneer woman in a Mother Hubbard gown, sailing around a windy camp-fire, or climbing in and out of the hind end of a prairie schooner No, our pioneer women had no such loose habits Nor did the pioneer wear stovepipe hats. I remember the first plug hat I ever saw on the head of a pioneer It adorned the head of P P Wilcox as he ventured timidly along Larimer street one day True, this was as late as 1866, and the pioneer days were then considered past, but it was a sad example, and was the first step to a sad end That erring brother has come down to be an Indian agent of a starveling band of imprisoned Apaches in the deserts of Arizona, where he goes wandering about, a mere cadaverous shadow, with nothing to wear but a government commission and a red flannel breech clout "

Lawrence N Greenleaf, another pioneer, who has the "jingle" to no mean extent read a very creditable poem commemorative of the "good old days," which abounded with good points He paid a well merited tribute to Gregory and Russell, the hardy pioneers to whose energy and courage so much is due Senator Hill's successful efforts to smelt the refractory ores of Clear creek and Gilpin were alluded to by the poet in these lines

> Far in the east he said, the prophet to the mountains went,
> Here in the west twas quite reversed—our Hill was to us sent
> His treatment of refractory ores the secret we unfold—
> He was it till its heart doth melt in precious tears of gold

One of the best speeches of the evening was that of Senator Chaffee, who spoke of some of the early events in the history of the state and of his connection therewith The event of the day, however, appeared to be the address of Colonel Chivington the hero of what has been called the Sand Creek massacre" The colonel confined his remarks altogether to the part played by the Indians in our state's history, and to an elaborate vindication of the Sand Creek affair

Senator Tabor responded to the toast "Leadville Carbonates and Denver's Monuments" and General Bearce concluded the speech making by a very affecting response to the toast Gone Beyond the Range" in which the names of many of Colorado's pioneers who are "with the bursting me" were appropriately mentioned

The settlement of each one of the western states of the union was attended with almost indescribable hardships and dangers, and few of them presented greater difficulties than Colorado An almost boundless plain had first to be crossed before the new home was reached, and over this vast stretch of country everything that was necessary to feed and clothe the settlers had to be carried In case a supply train was destroyed by the Indians a frequent occurrence the pioneers were subjected to a new danger, starvation When the war broke out the government had too much to attend to to give a thought to the little band out here under the shadow of the Rocky mountains, and their struggle for existence for several years against the depredations of Indians and grasshoppers was frequently a desperate one Now that these dangers and hardships are over, it is not singular that those who endured them should take pleasure in meeting each other, in looking again upon the faces that were first seen by the light of camp fires in mountain gulches, and listening to voices that heard a quarter of a century ago Those of us who came over the plains in sleeping cars, finding here churches, school houses and all the concomitants of the older settlements should honor the hardy pioneers who laid, in danger and toil, the foundation of our noble commonwealth, one of the brightest stars in the glorious constellation of the union

The removal of Mr Van Der Voort from the railway mail service at Omaha is exciting much comment throughout the country Mr. Van Der Voort is a prominent member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and has induced several posts of that body to demand of the president his immediate reinstatement At the late reunion of that organization at Lincoln, Nebraska, attended, it is said, by 15,000 members, a resolution condemning his removal, and calling upon President Arthur to reinstate him, was unanimously passed Considering the political influence of the removed chief clerk, it certainly required much moral courage in the postmaster general to remove him and it is quite clear that those who are condemning him for so doing are not correctly informed respecting the causes which led to such action It now appears that Van Der Voort was absent from his post of duty most of the time for a year past during which period his duties had to be performed by his clerk, or altogether neglected The division superintendent has frequently reported great demoralization in the office at Omaha in consequence of his absence During the year ending July 31st, 188 , he was absent 265 days most of which time was given to the Grand Army of the Republic He was frequently reprimanded by the division superintendent, and as often promised to give his time and attention to his official duties, but always failed to keep his promises The superintendent of the railway mail service was frequently called upon to censure him for constant disregard of orders Surely those who are advocating his reinstatement cannot know these facts The postmaster general is certainly to be commended for removing such an inefficient officer, and it is by no means likely that the president will interfere with his action in the premises

For some reason or other the democrats don't seem to be very harmonious this year In Ohio they are fighting each other desperately, without seeming to care for the result which will certainly be a great republican victory next month In New Jersey another quarrel has broken out When Abbott received the nomination for governor on Thursday, great confusion arose and a large minority refused to make the nomination unanimous If these bickerings continue the nomination of that party for the presidency a year hence will not be worth an elaborate letter of acceptance We are not advised as to the cause of the quarrel in New Jersey

Judge Edmunds law for the government of Utah, framed to work out the extinction of polygamy although doubtless administered by the commission as strictly as possible, has not resulted quite so satisfactorily as its framer and supporters could wish The Mormons who are not polygamists, and who under the law are not disfranchised, largely outnumber the Gentiles and consequently the spirit of the law has, and will doubtless for a time at least continue to be, evaded The practice of polygamy, however, even among the Mormons in Utah, is becoming odious, and doubtless a few years only will be needed to stamp it out altogether

Many of the papers in the state are advocating the appointment of an "Arbor" day to be devoted to the planting of trees The idea is a good one, but if such a day be fixed for the purpose we trust that tree planters will bear in mind that one tree properly planted and cared for is worth a dozen carelessly set out and left to die for want of attention

At the annual exhibition under the management of the New England Manufacturers and Mechanics Institute recently opened in Boston, many appropriate speeches were made, among them one by Judge Symes, of Denver who spoke at some length upon the mineral and pastoral resources of Colorado His remarks were frequently applauded

The stock ranges of Colorado will go into the winter more fully covered with luxuriant grasses than for many years The late and heavy rains, however by keeping the grass green and succulent, have been disadvantageous and unless heavy frosts come much later than usual the pasture will be to some extent injured thereby

Speaker Keifer says that a majority of democrats in the last congress were in favor of absolutely repealing all tariff duties on wool It was classed by them as raw material and as such they were in favor of putting it on the free list

Unless the epidermis of Joy the Leadville brute who nearly killed Mr. Cowen of the Herald, be as thick as that of an alligator he will feel the scorings that are being administered by the press of the state

The cattle fever in Russia that is said to have carried off a million cattle during the past four months and is still spreading rapidly, may give an additional boom to the American cattle market.

The Denver Republican strongly but very properly condemns the wasteful and unlawful destruction of fish and game in Colorado, particularly in the northwest portion of the state

During the fiscal year ended June 30th, 10,0 5 453 acres of public land were taken up Dakota leads the list with a total of 7,317,338 acres disposed of

General Grant cannot be accused of ingratitude He declares that he would rather see Conkling president than any other man in the United States

Warm weather has returned to the great northwest, and the damage to the corn crop is found to be less than at first supposed

One of the most important of the mercantile institutions of Berlin is an egg exchange As the city consumes more than 12 000 000 dozens of eggs annually it is a business of very great importance On the forenoons of two days in the week the produce exchange is wholly given up to the egg dealers, both male and female Uniform rates for eggs are thus established which are observed by all dealers

A story is told of a certain political caucus in Maine which was attended by only two persons Hannibal Hamlin and one other Mr Hamlin elected the other man chairman and proceeded to transact the business on hand But the credentials of the delegates certified that they were elected at a large and respectable caucus of the republicans of , because, as Mr Hamlin explained to the puzzled chairman you are taken a Hamlin table

Before Senator Sawyer at the battle of Winchester in his address at the soldiers reunion in Ohio Dr Fulton quoted the general as saying in unthelogical terms . . . This was too much for one of the old vets of the audience and rising in his chair and baking his hand at the reverend speaker he shouted That isn't what Sheridan said . . . Well . . . This brought down the house After the confusion had subsided Dr Fulton smiling is added And he did it too —Peoria Transcript

The Age of Trees

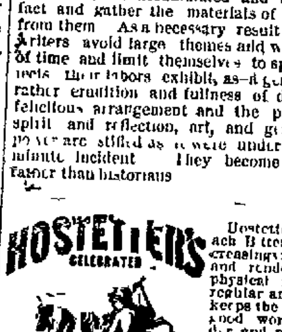

Longman's Magazine

The cypress affords an instance where the approximate certainty of its introduction into England enables us to form some conclusions with regard to its attainable age The fact of its being first mentioned in Turner's Names of Herbs, published in 1548 makes it probable that it was not introduced into England before the beginning of that century But at all event the cypress at Fulham which in 1793 was 2 feet 5 inches at three feet from the ground, cannot have been planted there before 1674, the year that Compton the great introducer of foreign trees into England in the seventeenth century became bishop of London That gives a growth of about two feet in the first century but sometimes it attains a higher rate, as in the case of the cypress planted by Michael Angelo at Chartreux, which was 13 feet round in 1817 giving the average rate of over four feet in the first three centuries Now the cypress at Somma, between Lake Maggiore and Milan, for whose sake Napoleon bent the road out of the straight line is not more than 23 feet in girth, so that the tradition which makes its planting coeval with Christianity would seem doubtful though if we take three feet as the first century's growth, and take the third as the average, it may evidently have been standing in the time of Cæsar, as an old chronicle of Milan is averred to attest The Lebanon cedar first planted at Lambeth in 1683 was only 7 feet 9 inches (girth measurements alone need be given) 110 years later Dr Uvedale's cedar, planted at Enfield not earlier than 1670, was 15 feet 8 inches when measured in 1835—i. e., 165 years after And the large cedar at Uxbridge, which was blown down in 1790, was 118 years old when Gilpin measured it in 1776, and found it to be 15 feet 6 inches We should therefore be justified in assuming 12 feet as the possible first century's growth of a cedar even in England, whence we may test the probability of the oldest cedars now on Mount Lebanon having been growing there in the days of King Solomon In the year 1696 the traveler Maundrell measured one of the largest of them and found it to be 12 yards 6 inches Four feet a century being the average rate, the cedar measured by Maundrell would have required only nine centuries to have attained its dimensions of thirty three feet, so that it need have been no older than the time of Charlemagne, and, allowing for a more rapid growth on a site where it is indigenous may probably have been considerably younger

The Writing of Modern History,

The Edinburg Review

History in the hands of Voltaire and Montesquieu as with us in the hands of Hume and Gibbon dealt with great subjects and large tracts of time, and, if somewhat wanting in research and learning, was conspicuous for its luminous thought and for the breadth and force of its general judgments The same characteristics, with the addition of more profound and exact knowledge, appear in the works of Macaulay and Arnold, though, unhappily, these are only fragments, and they are visible, though in different degrees, in the best writings of Guizot and Thierry, and even in the brilliant epic of Michelet These great men, however, attained maturity before the middle of the present century, and can write no more but in this generation a revolution in this sphere of knowledge has been going on, and is all but complete History is now a matter of infinite research into the original sources of information on the past which in our day are being generally disclosed and a historian is deemed unworthy of the name who does not explore these mines of accumulated and undigested fact and gather the materials of his work from them As a necessary result historical writers avoid large themes and wide spaces of time and limit themselves to special subjects Their labors exhibit, as a general rule, rather erudition and fullness of detail than felicitous arrangement and the philosophic spirit and reflection, art, and generalizing power are stifled as it were under a load of minute incident They become analysts rather than historians

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters by increasing vital power and rendering the physical functions regular and active, keeps the system in good working order and protects it against disease For constipation dyspepsia and liver complaint, nervousness kidney and rheumatic ailments it is invaluable and it affords a sure defence against malarial fevers, besides removing all traces of such disease from the system For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.

ANOTHER WAIL

In Behalf of Denver Base Ballists

The Colorado Springs GAZETTE sets up a howl that might be heard at the top of Pike's Peak over the Tribune's account of the umpire's decisions in the game played between the Independents and the Springs Reds last Saturday The game last Saturday was thrown by the umpire The GAZETTE knows it The GAZETTE acknowledges it in trying to smooth over the actions of the umpire in Sunday's paper. The Tribune took its stand, not from the crying of the Independents, but from the score as published in the GAZETTE The Independents made more base-hits, more total bases, more assists and less errors than did the Reds The Colorado Springs club was outplayed at every point The umpire is said to be a Denver man, but such is not the fact He has never remained in this town over night, nor eaten a meal here —No Denver man would ever aspire to be a judge of base ball who knew so little of playing rules as did the umpire of Saturday's game The GAZETTE was ashamed to publish the name of the man and substituted the scorer's name for the umpire's in the official score —Denver Tribune

Again the Tribune takes up the cause for the Independents and makes a vain effort to show that the game last Saturday was thrown by the umpire and says the GAZETTE knows it The GAZETTE knows nothing of the kind As for the score published it was a copy of the one kept by the scorer, who had a peculiar way of keeping it He failed to charge the pitcher with errors for allowing batters to take base on called balls In one inning seven runs were made by the Reds and not one earned, most of them taking base on called balls, for which no errors were charged Throughout the game Martin's wild pitching gave the Reds many a run and it was not necessary to hit the ball in order to win the game The fact that the Reds had less hits and more errors than the Independents is no proof that the latter club ought to have had more runs Consequently the score shows or proves nothing

We will acknowledge the Independents very good ball players, but not good enough for the scrub nines in the provincial towns They are in big luck to have an umpire on whom to shoulder their defeat The GAZETTE suppressed the name of the umpire for no other reason than that it was not known to a single person in Colorado Springs He was selected by the Independents and supposed to be a gentleman and a ball player, and the GAZETTE had no reason to be ashamed to publish his name In our opinion Denver is large enough and old enough to have a base ball club minus swaddling clothes and a constant inclination to appeal to the baby act whenever fairly and squarely beaten

Stolen Postal Notes

CINCINNATI, September 14 —Mr J. H Brown, postoffice inspector for the Cincinnati postoffice, received official information to-day that the postoffice at Junction City, Perry county, Ohio, had been burglarized last night and the safe robbed of all its postal notes, numbered consecutively from 7 to 500 These were in a book from which the first six postal notes had been issued The thief also took the punch and office stamp, constituting the entire equipment for issuing postal notes Inspector Brown desires to notify the public against receiving and postmasters against redeeming any postal notes issued from Junction City, Ohio, of the above described numbers until further advice.

Sculling Challenges

NEW YORK, September 14 —In reply to the challenge of Peter H Conley, of Portland, to row Wallace Ross five miles for $500 a side, the latter announces that he will accept on condition that Richard K Fox be final stakeholder, having the naming of water and appointment of referee. Ross has deposited $100 with Fox, while Conley has put up the same amount with the Argus, of Portland

In regard to the offer of James Keenan, of Boston, to match Chas E Courtney to row Ross five miles, Ross says if Keenan sends on $100 for forfeit to Richard K. Fox, he will arrange a match with him and wager $1,200 against $1,000 on the result.

Indian Arms

Macmillan's Magazine

It is not uncommon to find in India old Spanish or other European blades mounted in gauntlet hilts—a fact worth noticing to correct the popular impression that eastern swords are better than European ones This is far from being generally true Not only may old Spanish, Italian, or German blades be found in collections of Oriental arms, but in quite modern times Indian horsemen have been known to use by preference English light cavalry swords, remounted in their own fashion, and to do terrible execution with them European swords have been found to be effective in Indian warfare, not because they were bad in themselves, but because they were not kept sharp like the Indian ones "A sharp sword will cut in any one's hand," said an old native trooper to Captain Nolan in answer to questions as to the secret of the Indian horsemen's blows And if European swordsmiths do not produce habitually such elaborate work as those of Persia and Damascus, it is not because they have not the secret of their eastern fellow-craftsmen, but because the time and expense required for watered blades are such as would not be compensated by the price obtainable in the western market. Only in the east, where men seem to take no count of time, and where centuries have passed without historians and without any means of fixing dates, could this branch of the armorer's art have arisen, or be regularly practiced

Queens of the Ballet.

London Society

Fanny Elssler was renowned for her characteristic national dances of the Cachuca and the Cracovienne. Carlotta Grisi, with her fascinating beauty and grace, was a dangerous rival to Elssler, especially in "Giselle," and in "Esmeralda" she was literally without a rival But Elssler infused more comic power into the first act of "Giselle," and her death at the end of the act was more tragic I saw the Taglioni dance in "La Sylphide" at the age of 50 Although destitute of the astonishing feats of Cerito, the poetry of motion was never more strikingly exemplified than in this wonderful artiste. She flitted noiselessly across the stage as one would imagine a spirit would do Lucille Grahn, Rosati, and Amalia Ferraris were also queens of the ballet. The first step toward the destruction of the ballet, or a long story portrayed by pantomimic action, was the introduction of the divertissement, which consisted of dancing alone. This was found to be useful on what were called the "long Thursdays" Tuesday and Saturday were the subscription nights. But Thursday was an extra night when fragments of opera and ballet were presented, in order to make an attractive programme.

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS

SALICYLICA is known as a common sense remedy because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent cures in three days that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly

REMEMBER

Ranchmen report quite a heavy fall of snow in the mountains yesterday.

Liverymen report business better this month than ever before in September.

Mr. E. L. Martin and family returned yesterday from a protracted visit to Nebraska

Mr Hamilton S. Wicks, editor of the Denver Journal of Commerce, is registered at The Antlers

Mr. W. H. Montgomery, local editor of the Republic, returned from a trip to Denver yesterday morning.

Mr. H. L. Holden and family, of Pueblo, have taken up their residence in Colorado Springs for the winter.

Rev Henry Ward Beecher will lecture at the opera house next Wednesday night. Subject: "The Moral Uses of Luxury and Beauty."

The artesian well has been excavated to a depth of forty feet and Mr. J. C. Swan is expected in the city to-day when drilling will be resumed.

Thirty four more people have been accommodated at The Antlers for the first fourteen days of this month than for the corresponding period in August

Mr. G B Prescott, one of the leading electricians of the United States, for a long time connected with the Western Union company, is at The Antlers.

The Antlers has a very gentlemanly head waiter in the person of Mr Frank Clark He gives general satisfaction to both transient and local guests of the house.

Ex Governor Pitkin passed through the city yesterday morning on his way to Pueblo He has been living at Poncha Springs all summer but will settle for the winter at Pueblo

General B F. Crowell went to Denver yesterday morning to meet his sisters, who are on their way from the east. They will arrive in the city to day, as will also Hon Irving Howbert and his family

Volume 3, No 1, of the Occidental Mirror has a handsome new cover on the front side of which is a stereotype of Colorado college. Typographically it is also greatly improved in appearance and it is by far the neatest number yet issued.

Mr. C F. Ray returned yesterday morning from a visit to the Kansas State Fair at Topeka He brought back with him the bull terrier "Tug Wilson," that took the $300 prize at the fair. "Tug" is a thoroughbred and is highly prized by his new master

Mr M. L Towne, eight years ago a resident of Colorado Springs, now engaged in mining near Parrot City in the San Juan country, is up on a few days visit to old friends After devoting six or seven years to sinking holes in the ground without success Mr Towne was recently rewarded by striking a very rich vein assaying all the way from $5 to $20,000 per ton.

On Thursday evening Jasper Patton, who was at work in the bottom of the artesian well, narrowly escaped being killed by the falling of a bucket. The bucket was being lowered from the top of the well when in some way it became detached from the rope and fell upon Patton at work in the bottom. It did not strike him with full force. Had it done so he would have probably been killed. As it was his head was quite badly bruised and cut. He was however out upon the street yesterday but unable to do any work.

The Bessemers of Pueblo will not be able to come here to-day and play the Reds as contemplated but they will come later in the season There will, however, be a game at the association grounds between the Reds and the College Boys, which will be called at 2 30 o'clock Admission to the grounds free He low are the players composing the two nines:

TO INVALIDS AND TOURISTS!

THE

Seven Lakes Hotel

IS NOW OPEN.

It is the highest Hotel of the kind in the world and in the highest forest

The principal lake is 90 feet deep and one mile in diameter, is the highest in the world, 11 472 feet above tide water [Report of the U S Signal Service

It has the highest sail boats in the world

The road via Cheyenne Canon and Beaver Park to Pike's Peak, about 13,000 feet, is the highest carriage road in the world, and the volcanic crater, within which are the Hotel and Lakes, is the highest and largest in the world

It does all it claims to be, and the latter that it has but one opening.' —[Chancellor of the Kansas State University.

Professor Spring says 'The scenery is extraordinary, surpassing beyond description'

Said the pyrotechnist who made the fire works for the great Masonic celebration in Chicago 'I never felt so near the Great White Throne as when beholding these stupendous remains of God Almighty's fire works'

Rev H C Crane says "Along the Cheyenne road and at the Lakes, the views are glorious By the old Lake bed, at 13 000 feet in the air, I found many precious crystals I have never felt so happy since my marriage day'

Rev. Mrs Crane, 'All this, and heaven too'

Bierstadt, the Rocky Mountain artist "I never grow weary of looking at it. It changes every hour Cheyenne mountain, over the crest of which runs the road to the Lakes and Pike's Peak, is the only mountain in the world which rises without a base From the prairies it boldly springs up 4,000 feet.'

Various journals, notably the Atlantic Monthly, and "H. H." speak kindly of the House, Lakes and road

'O, for some kind friend to kick me up another hill,' said Mark Twain before the road was made

The water and highly developed air, ozone (progressed oxygen) cure many diseases Exhaustion, nervousness and every symptom of paralysis disappear. So with many lung and heart troubles

The Hotel is four miles from Pike's Peak (off the survey) carriage way three miles Everything in Hostelry, Guides, Couriers, Horses, Burros, Tents, Lunches, etc., furnished at reasonable rates Goat's or cow's milk for invitalids Stage twice a week Address or call on
